Lincoln Memorial University invites you to attend the virtual Opioid Education Symposium (OES2024). Lincoln Memorial University-DeBusk College of Osteopathic Medicine will host OES2024 on Monday, April 15, 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The theme of this year's symposium is "MOVING AWAY FROM OPIOID RELIANCE: Interprofessional perspectives on opioid vulnerability, prevention of substance use disorder, and treatments for sports-related injuries." This symposium series continues to increase recognition, from both clinical and holistic perspectives, of the devastating factors contributing to opioid misuse, regionally and nationally.

We anticipate attendance may include, but is not limited to, students from programs such as Osteopathic Medical Education, Physician Assistant, Family Nurse Practitioner, Pharmacy and Social Work. All interested community leaders, community members, and other trained medical professionals are also invited to attend!
